

Workforce Partnerships that Work: Creating Public-Private Partnerships that Serve Students, Institutions, Employers, and Communities

Newport Beach, CA | June 4-5, 2019

Education Design Lab

Education Design Lab

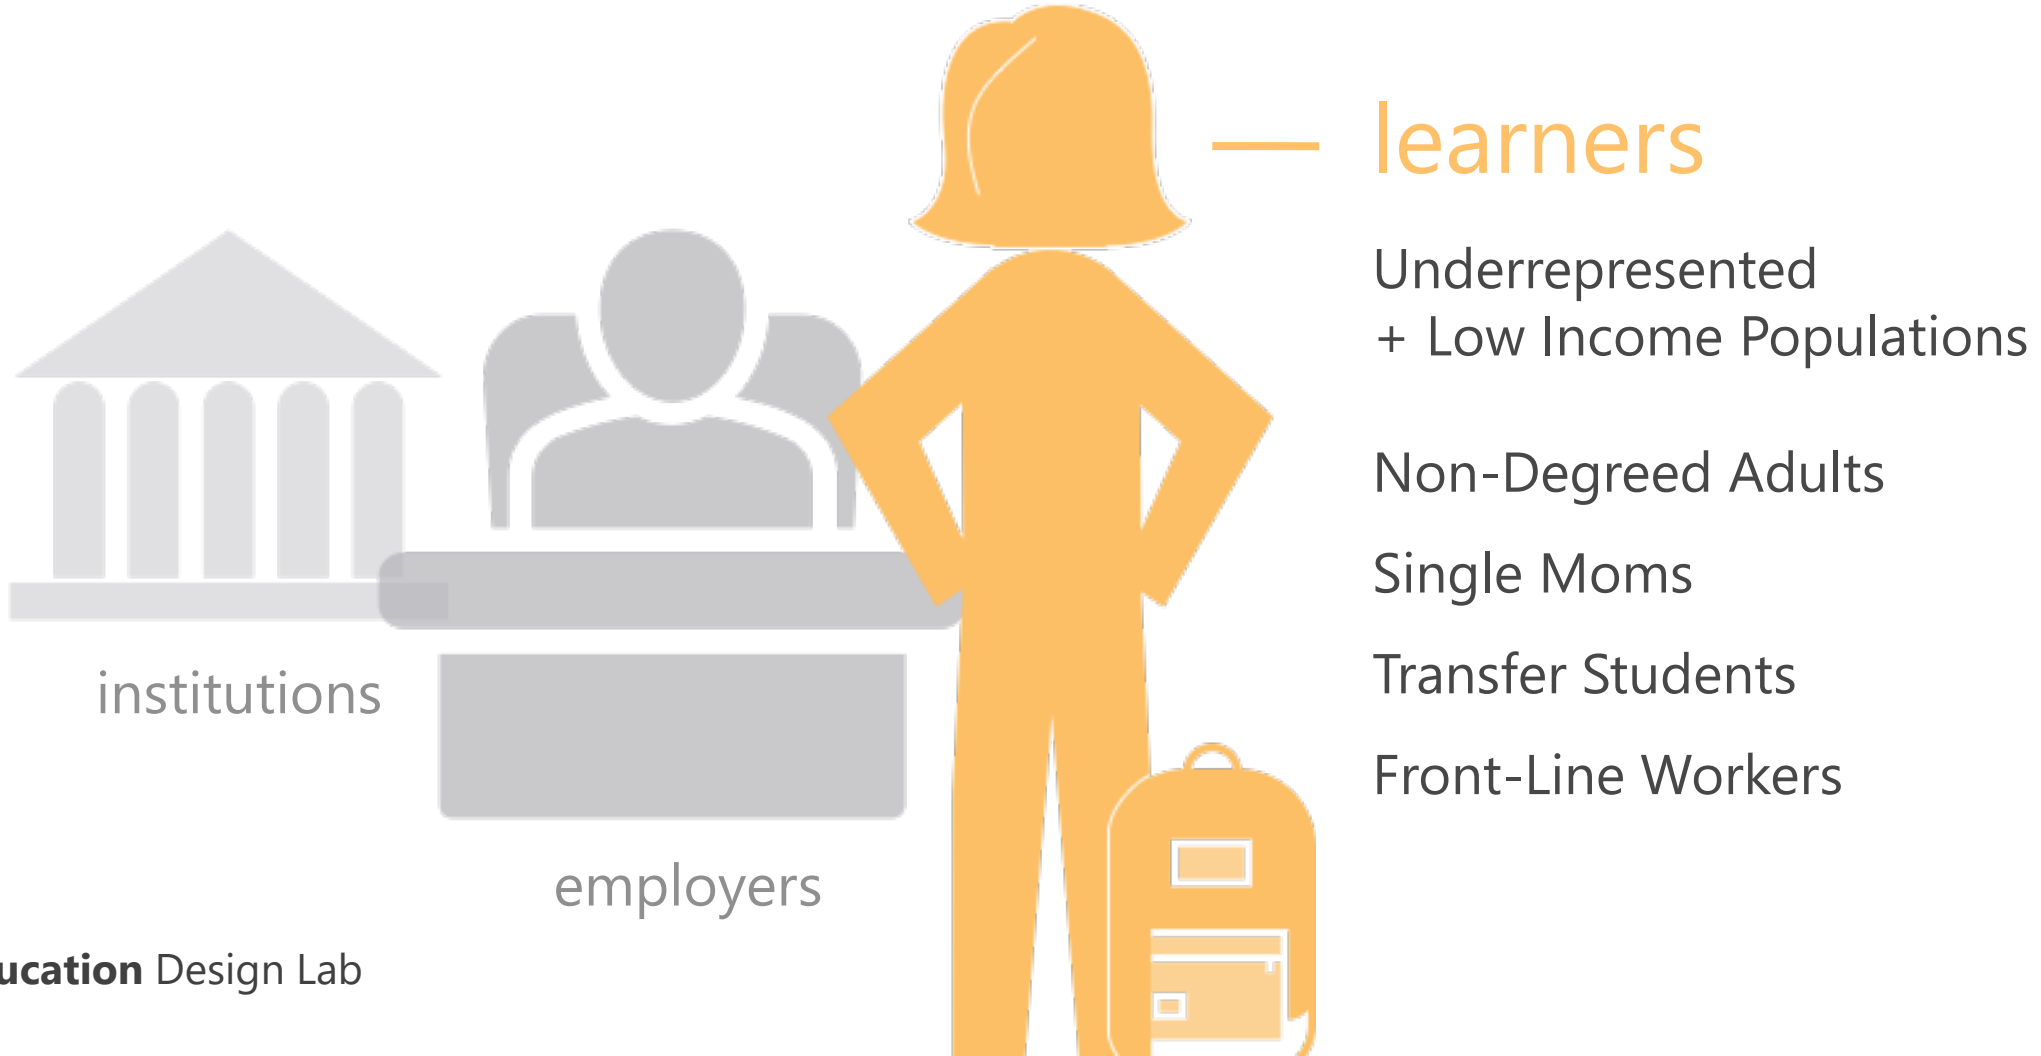

We co-design, test and build higher education models to better address affordability, relevance, and portability in a rapidly changing knowledge economy. We are focused on underserved communities and the persistent workforce-ready gap.

Our partners:

- 100 Universities and Colleges
Majority of them serve "new traditional" students
- 60 Employers
- 5 Ecosystems (states, systems, cities)

Designing Post-Secondary with the “New Majority” of Learners

A degree is essential, but the competencies need to match better to the future of work.

Stackable competency credentials are becoming hiring signals. You can gain entry level credentials and then upskill as you need more skills.

We are working both sides of the changing definition of post-secondary success

The Need for Urgency

Valley College's Princeton campus closing

By CHARLES BOOTHE Bluefield Daily Telegraph 15 hrs ago

In Vermont, Small Colleges Are Closing

Three schools will hold their final commencements this weekend, hurting a state looking for new residents

By Jon Kamp / Photographs by Caleb Kenna for The Wall Street Journal

May 17, 2019 7:30 a.m. ET

A college closed, leaving thousands without a degree.
How to keep it from happening to you

Chris Quintana, USA TODAY Published 6:00 a.m. ET March 26, 2019 | Updated 12:15 p.m. ET March 27, 2019

"To me the issue is not, 'will colleges be forced to close?' but rather how many will close and over what time period. Will it be 500? 2000? Will it largely happen in the next five years, or 10 years or more? I am not certain about the details, but the broad contours of the forthcoming changes seem pretty clear."

*--Economist Richard
Vedder*

The [Higher Ed] Bubble is Going to Burst!

TRAILER

The Big One Is Coming

The Big One: Your Survival Guide
The Big One Is Coming

00:00:00

SHARE SUBSCRIBE COOKIE POLICY

Megaphone

The video player interface features a thumbnail on the left with a red background showing buildings and a blue background with a person icon and the text 'THE BIG ONE' and 'OKPCC'. The main area has a play button, title, and a waveform progress bar. The bottom bar contains navigation links and the Megaphone logo.

50% chance
this will happen
in the next
30 years

Infrastructure is insufficient [the business model]

- Not enough buildings to code [programs]
- Don't have enough first responders [student supports]
- Don't have enough fresh water [?]

Marginalized populations will be most impacted

LA will never be the same

From a Former College President

It's not inevitable--not convinced that is the only solution

Trying to do what we used to do but just better.

How about something different?

Haven't been bold enough, creative enough, anticipatory enough.

How you educate? Who? Where? Be bold about auxilliary revenue streams.

1. Be Bold

Think bold & act like other bold businesses

NETFLIX

Uber

Consider Bold Partnerships

WHEN MUSTANG

MET tinder

From Run Still Cool!!

To Don
From
DMC

“The best ideas come at the intersection and collision of things we don’t assume as normal.”

Geoffrey Colon (Microsoft, Author of Disruptive Marketing: What Growth Hackers, Data Punks, and Other Hybrid Thinkers Can Teach Us About Navigating the New Normal)

2. Be a Designer

A Good Education Designer

Keeps the learner in mind

Floods the zone with ideas

Recognizes the user is the expert

Does not presuppose the solution

Embraces ambiguity

Tests quickly and iterates

Design Without Constraints

Time

Resources

Innovate

Policy

Leadership

Effort

The possibilities are vast with the only limiting factor being the creativity of the campaign.

--unknown marketing guru

3. Get to Work

Challenge yourself

What will you do when you get back?

Who will you enlist to help?